

Biomimicry

is an approach to innovation that is inspired by nature and tries to imitate nature's designs and processes to find sustainable solutions in human society.