

Blue Economy

gains knowledge from the way in which organisms are formed and stresses that the purpose of finding solutions for the challenges that we face should be determined by their local environment combined with their physical or ecological characteristics.