

Performance Economy

is a vision of an economy in loops. This includes the principles of product-life extension, long-life goods, reconditioning activities, and waste prevention. Selling services instead of goods is a cornerstone, proposing payment for the performance that products deliver rather than its materiality.